

It's about an emotion.
Anders Petersen always told me
to photograph with the stomach, not
the mind.
It's about asking questions.
I photograph daily life but it's always an attempt to leave something for the viewer to interpret.

